“ I'll miss Faye. She was a great person and major asset to Centerville and the ballpark.

A long time ago a couple of friends and I were at Bowen's Grocery. Probably getting a bologna sandwich and a slushy. That was some good stuff. In comes a coach and he said he just didn't have the time to coach his softball team anymore. I think he held a couple of jobs as it was. We said we would take the team. She wasn't sure about it and proceeded to lecture us like she was my mom or something. Something about being too young. Wow! We still took the team and then relied heavily on Faye for advice on coaching the team. Oh, and she let us use that bag full of bats anytime we needed it.

Years later I wound up President of the ballpark. This was second attempt to becoming president. The first time she flatly said I was too young to run the place. So I managed to get on the Board a few years later. We re-elected the person that had been president for many years before. But he wasn't at that meeting. I was elected vice president. And then he didn't want it anymore. There I was left holding the bag! Faye was my biggest supporter until I wanted to move to Little League. I finally won her over and we've been Little League since.

One thing I learned to love about her was the fact that she didn't mince words. She said what was on her mind and meant what she said. A great quality.

There have been very few people to know anything about my personal life that wasn't my family. Faye was one. She let me talk to her anytime I needed to talk. She had an open door policy.

She was a great person and we'll all miss her.
