“ I found out last week that Charlie Nelson passed away. He was old-school in all of the best ways. I had the pleasure of serving under him at the Winter Garden Police Department for many years. He always took care of his people, whether he was on duty or not. For example, I remember many Thanksgivings where he would have food made for those working day shift and all were invited to come over to his house when they could. He did not want anyone working on the holiday to go without a nice meal and he made us all feel like family. RIP to a good man.
