“ Daisy was my 5th grade teacher and I was always scared of her because she was very strick. Then about 10 years ago I started to mow her lawn at her home and the farm and I found out she was the most caring and easiest person to talk to I had ever met. Daisy and I did alot of talking, and she always asked how all my family was doing, always about my daughter Paige. I will miss her very much, always remember the talks we had and the friendship.
