“Oh this is so hard. I have so many memories of you. Like when you were little and Debbie or I would be rocking you to sleep and you just had to have the song called Daddy please don't. It was a old song but you loved it and would sing it nightly. I also remember the time you stepped on a yellow jacket nest. That was scary because you got stung so many times on your head. They got stuck in your beautiful long thick very curly hair. I know you were my niece, but all the times you just needed a little extra help we were always right there to help anyway we could. From helping pay a bill, buying groceries or gas even cigarettes to you moving in with us. Oh and the time we drove to Georgia to help you pack and move you back home. All the dinners we got to have together and laughs I will treasure for ever. And sure can't forget about the football games and Christmas shopping we did. Thank you for sharing all 4 of your wonderful kids with Jeff and I. You seemed more like a daughter to us and your kids are like ours or our grand kids. Love you to the moon and back

“ I will never forget when Gramps & Granny's lived in Ashland City. In the basement Gramps had bought a huge box of POP TARTS. All of us grandkids ate on those Tarts till we were sick of Pop Tarts for a good long while. I also remember Cissy being tuffer than all of us ruff neck boys put together. If we picked on Corey she would pick up something and throw it at us. Or punch us in the nose...lol

“ O the years we shared together and hanging out with the kids. We first met through our girls and we became really close friends when we were neighbors at the apartments. We shared so many stories and you were the one i could always count on. Your kids were my kids. The many nights we hung out just sitting at home having a drink and playing cards or games with our kids. I miss you so much. I miss your smile and your laugh. No matter what went on in life, you always had a huge smile. Love ya my friend. I will see you another day.
