“ I worked with Evelyn over the years outside of high school. I moved away, but every time I stopped by Walmart when I came back, I made sure to stop and talk to her. I’m going to miss her. She was one of a kind.

“ My sister, Evelyn was 13 years older than me, so I was about 6 years old when she got married and moved away. We didn't have our teen years together, but she visited us when she could. Through the years we were close even we didn't get to visit each other that often. She was the one I looked up to for advice when I questioned myself and my goals. She loved her family more than anything and was always there for them in good times and bad. I remember we were all together one Christmas and we brought about 18 gifts all wrapped up and we played White Elephant game with them. It was soooo much fun!! Some would hide the gift they chose so no one else could take it. Do y'all remember what Brandy ended up with. What she thought was a necklace until she pulled it out of the wrapper. Everyone laughed at that. I thought Evelyn would roll out in the floor laughing so hard. We have all had wonderful times together and I wouldn't trade it for anything. May God's blessings and comfort be with the family at this time, and just know, we will see her again one day in God's beautiful Kingdom. Until then, share all the memories with one another and know that she loved all of you. Brenda

“ I worked with Evelyn as a teenager at walmart. She changed my life. She convinced me to check out nursing school because one of her granddaughters had just went through the program. She saw something in me that I didn't even see in myself. I figured what the heck and went and checked it out. 13 years later as a nurse my entire life was changed. She has always been a part of my story of how I became a nurse. She never knew the impact she had on me, but I wish she had. Rest in peace.

“ My Grandmother was a loving person who's greatest achievement was her entire family. She loved nothing else more on earth than being with all of us. I have so many memories of being around her from the time I was a little boy until I grew to be a man. She always has been and always will be an RC cola & a pack of Mallow cups " the best treat " anyone could ever get recive.
