

James Franklin Coleman

February 16, 1969 - January 27, 2026

James Franklin “Butch” Coleman, 57, of Tennessee, passed away peacefully. He was born on February 16, 1969, in Chattanooga, Tennessee, to David “Frank” Coleman and Jacqueline Patricia “Jackie” Coleman.

Butch was a son, brother, father, grandfather. He will be remembered for his strength, his sense of humor, and the love he had for those closest to him.

He is survived by his loving sisters, Mary Coleman and Terry (Dustin) Deitz. He also leaves behind his children: Amber Coleman of Rockwood; James L. Coleman of Dayton; Christopher A. Coleman (Sherita N. Tallest) of Chattanooga; Desiree N. Coleman (Whitney Kerr) of Dayton.

Butch was a grandfather to Curtis N. Coleman and Axial B. Coleman of Pennsylvania; Seth A. Coleman of Chattanooga; and Kerra Coleman, Kyan Reed, Harrison Kerr, Abigail Kerr, and Charlotte Kerr of Dayton.

He is preceded in death by his parents, David “Frank” Coleman and Jacqueline “Jackie” Coleman, as well as his infant son, Curtis Coleman.

Butch will be deeply missed by all who knew and loved him.

Tribute Wall

“ Ronald Gammons lit a candle in memory of James Franklin Coleman ”

Ronald Gammons - March 27 at 08:23 PM

“ Michael Bates sent a virtual gift in memory of James Coleman ”

Michael Bates - March 26 at 03:44 PM