“ As memories fade, my love for you will never. You taught me so much about what it was to be a man, and I have since learned how hard it is to be a father and a good husband. We all do the best we can with what we have. I knew a different man then most, we drifted apart and I will never forgive myself for letting that happen. I know you will never see this but I have to say it, you were always the best father you could be, and what more could anyone ask for in this crazy mixed up world. You taught me to that hard work pays off, and to have self respect. You taught me to be a man, a lesson I question if I learned well. As I struggle to be a good father and husband to my own family I always have you in my mind, I still want to make you proud, and pray that somewhere in some way you watch over me, and I make you smile.

I love you dad.

“ My prayers and thoughts goes out to you, Barbara and Dottie. Although I only met Jerry once, when I worked with Barbara I heard all about the man she loved. It was always fun to be with Barbara and feel the excitement every time Jerry was on his way home or the email messages she received and their on-line chats when he was off shore. I am so sorry for your loss Barbara but you will be together again some day. love, Donna Herrin

“ Jerry, I pray and know you are now in a better life. Someday we will all get to join you in blessed eternity. I am grateful for the kind, caring, and loving way you treated my sister Barbara and for all the great things you did for her. I am glad I got to meet you although our visits were limited and our time together was short. My favorite memory of you was when Barbara and you let me participate in the local car show. I will always treasure the photo of me holding the trophy in front of your winning car. Jerry, you were talented when it came to vintage cars and I was thoroughly impressed by your skills and knowledge here. It is obvious it was a passion that you and Barbara could share with your family and friends. You will be missed my friend and brother-in-law. Love in Christ. Joe
