“ I'm going to miss you so much, Stephen Bradley. You weren't just a friend—you were my brother in every way that counted. I still remember those days when you and your brothers and I would gather in the backyard for those epic football games. We didn't just play; we built memories that I'll treasure forever.

It's hard to believe you're gone, and my heart aches knowing that time stole our chance to hang out more, to laugh together, and to create even more memories. Life can be so unfair, and this loss cuts deep.

But I'll carry the joy, the laughter, and the bond we shared with me always. I'll never forget the way you lit up every room you walked into, how you always had my back, and the warmth you brought into my life. Thank you for being you, Stephen. You'll forever be in my heart.
