“ Granddaddy John is the most intelligent man I have ever known. He was a wealth of knowledge, but NEVER made you feel like you were not as smart as he was. One of my favorite memories was watching old movies "Strawberry Roane" was the favorite. Grandmommy would supply the snacks, and we would head out to the movie trailer. You will be greatly missed...love you...Brandi

“ I still hold as one of the greatest memories of my life growing up with Dad,uncles and cousins that were real men. They farmed, hunted, were crack shots and skinned small animals in the blink of an eye. Principled, natural men that when I was small left me at home with the women when they went hunting but when I was big enough I was welcomed. In all the years there was one, as big as any oak I ever saw, that always looked down upon us kids with a a gaze of love and caring. My Dad's brother, Uncle John. He is with My dad now and I hope they are laughing and remembering growing up in the woods and fields near Little Lot. I'll see you both again in time. Rest in Peace Uncle John. Love, Gary
