“ When I first met Kathy in April 2001 i could tell I had to earn her respect. I was much younger than her and she let it be known since I was new to Nashville and being in a leadership role, she had much wisdom and knowledge and before I could move forward to acknowledge that. We developed respect for one another and I can speak for myself I grew to love her because of her pure honesty. She was a good person, mother , employee and so real. She helped to make me a better employee and person here in Nashville and I will always be grateful. She was truly a blessing. May God give comfort and strength to the family.
