

Lawrence Bracey Campbell

March 14, 1947 - May 13, 2019

Lawrence Bracey Campbell, 72, of Lewisburg, TN, passed away at his home, Monday, May 13, 2019, following a brief illness. He was preceded in death by his parents, Frank and Electra Warren Campbell. He is survived by his wife, Jan Hopkins-Campbell, a son, Ben Campbell, a daughter, Jenna Campbell Rozar, 3 Grandchildren, and an aunt, Gwen Box.

Born in Inverness, MS, March 14, 1947, Bracey attended Mississippi College. He began his career in journalism as a sports writer for the Jackson (MS) Clarion-Ledger. In 1971, he moved to Nashville to join the staff of the Nashville Banner as a copy writer. He later was promoted to chief political writer and managing editor. He was administrative assistant to Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander during his second term, and a founder of the Brentwood (TN) Journal. From 1971 - 1975 he served in the Tennessee National Guard. Bracey was a member of the Marble Plains Baptist Church in Winchester, TN.

Visitation will be at McDonald Funeral Home, 102 West End Avenue Centerville, TN, Friday, May 17 from 10 AM - 1 PM. His funeral service will follow at 1 PM with William McDonald and Pastor Jack Hice co-officiating. Interment will be in Charles L. Nickell Memorial Park in Centerville. In lieu of flowers, the family request donations to the funeral home to offset funeral expenses.

“ Today is March 11, 2021. I am just today seeing this. For some reason I have had Buzz on my mind for quite some time and decided to check Google for him. I have very fond memories of Buzz. I knew him as a child and last saw him at his mothers funeral. His mother and father were dear friends of mine. It saddens me to know he is no longer here but I know this mother and father were happy to see him cross over to be with them. To them he was a shining star. Jenny Barron.
