“ I am so sorry to just now be leaving this comment, but I did not learn of Lee's passing until now. Lee was my buddy. When we were freshman in high school, we had a typing class together. Well, I picked up typing (with an actual manual typewriter) quite easily and could fly on those keys. Lee wasn't so fortunate. He would get so frustrated that he would reach over my desk during a "timed writing" and knock my typing book off my desk or pull the carriage return and mess me all up. I can still see his face because he would get so mad. Ha ha! And we were lifeguards together at the infamous Centerville Country Club. We had so much fun together! And, lastly, Lee, Bart Harper, Brad Davis, Tracy Blackwell, Vivian Richardson, and myself went on a triple date to the big city of Nashville one weekend when we were in high school. We thought we were hot shots. I loved that guy. I knew of his struggles, but I had unfortunately not stayed in touch as I should have. Condolences to his mother and his two sisters (Jenny and Jody) who also spent time at the Country Club with us. I am so sorry for your loss.
