“ Margaret and I were in Hohenwald one day and I apparently pulled out in front of one of the city officers and he pulled me over. Margaret asked me why I was pulling over and I told her, loudly, why I had stopped when the officer came up to the window and asked me why I was yelling at this lady. I explained that she was hard of hearing, this was before she got her new hearing aids. He said something to her and her response was "Huh?" I was so thankful that she responded that way or I might have been in trouble! We laughed all the way back to her house!
