“ My beautiful, loving, big-hearted granny went to be with my pawpaw last night! She was the absolute best woman I ever knew! We wasn't always close but over the past couple of years, I realized that I needed her love as much as she needed mine. And these past few months, we spent a lot of time together. We cried a lot, we laughed a lot, we took naps side by side, we held hands, we told stories, and most of all we enjoyed just being together. I was blessed to have spent her last few days with her. We grilled for the 4th and she grubbed like it was dinner for a queen. Little did she know, it was! The last conversation we had was me telling her that I sure wished she would be more positive about things... her response was a smile and her telling me that she sure hopes I know how much she loved me! ❤️ I love you granny and will miss you so much! Tell pawpaw that we all miss him but are happy to see you by his side now! I know he's missed you and god knows you missed him so much it hurt!
