

Stephen Thomas Lamica

May 26, 1951 - December 16, 2021

Stephen Thomas Lamica, a man who served in the air force for two years plus some, was a very VERY, pick at you kind of person. If he didn't pick on you, he didn't like you. But it's part of what made him the man he was. He ran furniture stores in the past, and moved into being a car salesman. Of all his jobs, that was his favorite.

He was saved, and volunteered as a Sunday school teacher in the past. He had many many hobbies when he was able. Birdwatching, (he could literally tell you all kinds of facts about different birds. He's who taught us kids how to tell between male and female birds). He loved gardening, and working with his hands. His absolute favorites though, were his hummingbirds.

He was all about his family.

Stephen leaves behind his wife of 32 years, Doris Lamica, his oldest daughter, Sofia Lamica, his eldest son (from a previous marriage) Jeffrey Lamica, and daughter Jill Wagner and five grandchildren. Aiden Lamica, Christopher Brewington-Lamica, Jr., Luka Finley, Ben, and Emma.

He is finally at rest, with his oldest brother James Lamica, his little brother Kevin Lamica, his mother Elenore Lamica, his father Robert Lamica, and his youngest daughter, Taylor Lamica.

He gave a hell of a fight. And it showed even at the end how stubborn he was. He was wonderful, he was funny, and he was kind, he loved you, as soon as he met you.

He will never be forgotten, and will always be forever missed.

Life won't be the same without him.

“ Uncle Steve, thank you for hosting Ale and I at your house this past summer. It was great finally meeting you after hearing all the stories about you... and no they weren't saying anything bad. Staying in your home was one of the most relaxing vacations I've ever had, thank you for being so welcoming. I'll never forget just realxing in your living room watching Naked and Afraid. You will be missed by many

“ So very sorry for your loss. He was a character. When his mother was in glens falls hospital he snuck a 6 pack of beer in to drink. I told him he was going to get caught. The nurse came in and said whoever brought it in to take it out. He was a jokester.
